SAVE A LIFE GALA 2019

honors Ronald R. Donatucci, Jr.

The Philadelphia chapter of the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention is proud to honor Ronald R. Donatucci, Jr. with the 2019 Lifesaver of the Year Award at the annual Save a Life Gala. The Lifesaver of the Year Award was created in memory of Anthony Siciliano, a young man who championed the underdog and exemplified empathy for those working through troubled times.

A native of South Philadelphia, Ron lost his brother Michael to suicide in 2016 after a long battle with anxiety and depression. To honor Michael and save lives, the Donatucci family formed the Michael P. Donatucci Foundation to help teens, parents, school counselors and teachers recognize and understand teen anxiety disorders and depression. As the President of the Board of Directors, Ron is passionate about eliminating the stigma associated with mental illness and removing the barriers to education and counseling services for teens struggling with anxiety and depression. Under the arm of Michael's Giving H.A.N.D., the High School Outreach and Adolescent Mental Health Counseling Programs have served nearly 10,000 teens, families and educators in the Greater Philadelphia Region since its inception.

The American Foundation for Suicide Prevention (AFSP) is the largest private funder of suicide research in the United States. In 2014, the organization announced a bold goal to reduce the annual suicide rate 20 percent by 2025. AFSP collaborates with scientists, business, civic, and political leaders, and people personally impacted by suicide to develop a comprehensive national suicide prevention strategy.
